

Online course timetable

(Sept20- Dec20)

We offer free educational courses that focus on keeping us mentally and physically well. They are all co-designed and co-facilitated by people who have experienced their own mental health challenges working alongside health professionals and education providers to share their knowledge and know-how.

Our courses are open to all adults who live, work or study in Leeds, it doesn't matter if you have a diagnosis or not and we welcome carers, family and health professionals to attend our workshops too. You are not referred to the Recovery College; you can enrol yourself onto any of the courses that are of interest to you.

How to enrol

- 1 Have a look at the workshop and course descriptions in this prospectus and decide which you would like to attend
- 2 To book on a course, you will be asked to complete a course enrolment form which is available from leedsrecoverycollege.com, by call us on 0113 855 5127 or emailing leedsrecoverycollege.lypft@nhs.net.
- 3 You will receive confirmation of your booking before the course starts. This will include an email link to your course's online digital class room, which has introductory videos and pre-course materials and also your 'live' session video meeting code.
- 4 If you are new to Leeds Recovery College, you will be invited to take a look at our Introduction to Recovery College digital classroom where you can view pre-recorded example sessions, watch facilitators and students sharing experiences of online learning and download our new 'Introduction to Recovery' learn at home packs.

Some common questions

How are courses delivered?

Our co-designed by people with personal experience of mental health challenges and recovery who work alongside health professionals and education providers who together, co-facilitate our training courses.

Our online courses are delivered using an online digital classroom and most of them also have a 'live' session group call. The digital classroom is a closed online space which gives you access to a selection of course resources, including introductory videos that have been pre-recorded by our facilitators. Just as if you were to attend one of our physical, face-to-face courses our 'live' session group calls have a start date and time, where you will join an online video workshop hosted by our course facilitators and attended by other students booked onto the course.

Why is the course in the prospectus but not on the course timetable?

We are not able to deliver every course and workshop each term due to the way that our courses are put together.

We work with people to share their experience of both living with a mental health condition and health professionals, education providers and trainers. This is often done in addition to their normal roles, which means our course timetable reflects facilitator availability and local demand. As we develop we hope the range and frequency of our courses will grow and would appreciate your comments and feedback.

I don't have a diagnosis or attend any services to support my mental health?

It doesn't matter. The Recovery College is not a mental health service and our courses are open to all adults who would like to learn more about mental wellbeing. This includes people who work with those who experience mental health challenges.

We believe that good mental health is important to everyone and that we can all play a part in improving our own mental health and contributing to that of others. We offer information based workshops and training that focuses on living mentally and physically well.
